Two Performances Set For Horse Show On Saturday

AGRICULTURE MINDED GROUP TAKES CONSERVATION TOUR
Approved Farm Methods, New Ideas, Highlight Trip Thursday

Farmers Take Conservation Tour

Farmers and professional agriculture workers toured several areas of the county last Thursday, led by Soil Conservationist John L. Harrison and ASCS office manager Newton Jennings.

At the W. E. Bondurant farm, Route 608 Stonewall, the group saw examples of strip cropping developed according to a conservation plan worked out by Harrison and his staff. At the Alfred and Watt Moore farm, Hebron community, they saw a newly developed sod waterway designed by SCS. Harrison explained that the waterway was made from an area formerly marked by deep gullies. ACP furnished part of the cost of establishing the project under prior ownership of the farm, Harrison said.

An abandoned road has been developed into a productive grassy area on the H.S. Braford farm, also near Hebron Church.

David Evans, of Campbell County, also under planning of SCS, took a "seep area" near the foot of Pilot Mountain, dug a ditch, laid drain tile— constructed a concrete distribution box, and found that he had enough water to fill up a watering tank for cattle, a watering system for a hog lot and sufficient water for his home and dairy barn.

The tour ended at the farm of John Harrison who invited the farmers to see his reforestation area. Forester Joel Artman talked with the group on proper seeding of loblolly and other fast growing trees, and methods to control undesirable hardwood growth.

Present for the tour were Commander Patrick Lair ,Twyman Coleman, Newton Jennings, John L. Harrison, Alfred Moore, William Hunter, Curry Harvey, Joel Artman, Richa rd Nash, ASCS Committee member, John Goin, SCS office, C. C. Harvey, Legrand Webb, Walt Moore, D. E. Moore, David Evans, William L. Mann, Hugh Braford, F. L. Flynn, D. B. McCraw, Mrs. M. G. Stimpson and J. B. Goad.

Abbitt Seeks Bill To Bar Court-Ordered Taxation

Fourth District Rep. Watkins M. Abbitt, introduced legislation in the House of Representatives Tuesday which would prohibit federal courts from compelling a state or its localities to levy any tax.

The bill was offered as a protest against a Supreme Court decision Monday which ordered the reopening of public schools in Prince Edward.

The Supreme Court held that the Federal District Court here may, if necessary to prevent further racial discrimination, require the county board of supervisors "to exercise the power that is theirs to levy taxes to raise funds adequate" to operate public schools.

Abbitt said in introducing his bill that the Supreme Court, in its Prince Edward decision on Monday, disregarded all judicial restraint.

"It is modifying, stretching, disregarding and interpreting the Constitution to fit the court's political and social philosophy regardless of precedent and regardless of the rights of the people of America," Abbitt said.

"Never in the history of our nation has the court intimated or held that it had the authority to compel a legislative body to levy taxes upon its people to carry out an order of the court.

"If our people sit idly by and permit a continuation of such arrogated power, our necks will be under the heel of a judicial dictatorship such as has never been known before in the free world. We must not — we cannot — permit this to happen in America."

Abbitt said his bill would be referred to the House Judiciary Committee, headed by Rep. Celler (D-NY).

The Southside Virginia Congressman indicated he didn't believe the bill would be given favorable consideration, but he said he would request an early hearing.

Mayor, Council On Pamplin Ballot June 9

Mayor Richard F. Williams, operator of a lumber business in the county, is seeking reelection in Pamplin town elections Tuesday, June 9.

Other incumbents seeking reelection are town councilmen W. C. Dudley, Area supervisor, Vocational Agriculture; J. M. Cobb Sr., used car dealer; Marion B. Duling, insurance salesman, Wilson W. Fulcher, Craddock-Terry Co. employe; and Roy P. Lacado retired railroad employe. Three other residents on the ballot: Woodrow W. Williams, store owner, Carroll Layne, G. E. employe, Lynchburg; and O. H. Tolley, gas station operator.

Squad Answers Several Calls

The Appomattox Rescue Squad was called out Sunday to assist with the injured in a two-car collison near Holliday Lake. Mrs R. C. Younger, of Lynchburg, sister of Mrs. Clara Mitchell and E. T. Guill, of Appomattox, was among the passengers carried to Lynchburg General Hospital.

Home calls, three of them on Saturday and one Monday, kept crew members busy. Tuesday morning crew members rushed to the scene of a tractor-trailer and pick-up truck collison near Spout Spring. No serious injuries were reported.

Banks To Close Memorial Day

Three county banks will be closed Saturday for the Memorial Day holiday: Farmers National and Bank of Appomattox; also, Pamplin City Branch Bank.

Trophies, Cash For Winners In 2 Performances

Saturday is the big day for Horse Show enthusiasts, and for everyone who likes excitement, good times, good things to eat, and an opportunity to see championship horses. Saturday is HORSE SHOW DAY IN APPOMATTOX sponsored by the Lions Club and county Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Pretty ribbon girls will be coming onto the field at the Appomattox Baseball Park to usher in the afternoon show at 1 p.m. and again at 7:30 p.m. Ponies, walking horses, western pleasure horses, pony driving, stock horses, and the famous five gaited Tennessee Walkers will all be shown at their best by both junior and senior members of the Virginia Horse Shows Association and others.

Rescue Squad Concession

Appomattox Rescue Squad says no need to worry about meals for Saturday. They'll have fried chicken, hot dogs, pies, ice cream, coffee, soft drinks, candy and potato chips, plus plenty of other good things for everyone to eat.

Horse Show chairman is Lt. L. E. Thomas. Ringmaster will be Jack Lucas, of Altavista, with Paul Shelton, Chatham, as announcer. Judges will be Honorable Claude Alexander, Belew Creek, N.C. Printed programs will give each spectator an opportunity to follow the program and list the winners. More than $1,000 in cash prizes and trophies are waiting for entrants in this year's show.

Ribbon girls for the afternoon show: Cynthia Richardson, Anita Richardson, Gayle Clements, Carolyn Hall, and Nancy McAden. For the evening show: Jane Williams, Jane Stanley, Kathryn Taylor, Gloria Doss, and Merlyn K. Martin. Each young lady will have an escort. Ribbon marshall is Mrs. Jim Cobb, Pamplin.

RAD Committee Thanks Sound-Light Supporters

A personal letter has been sent to each person who attended last month's "Sound and Light" program dictated at the Old Court House thanking them for support of the proposed drama. The RAD Committee wrote. "We feel that this meeting proved to be a highly successful one, not only due to the inspirational presence of Mr. D. Gordon Graham, but certainly because of the majority attendance of the invited guests."

The Committee said that the group's vote of confidence in the proposed outdoor program for Appomattox National Historical Park was responsible for the steering committee continuing in the investigation of the program.

"Members of the steering committee (named on April 22) have been working diligently and we assure you more will be said and done about the "Sound and Light Program," wrote Mrs. W. W. Burke, chairman of the committee.
